The Foggy Peoples

A Channeled Message from Non-Physical Entities (December 3, 1999)

OVERVIEW

This is a 29-minute channeled communication from entities identifying themselves as 'the Foggy Peoples'—non-physical beings existing in parallel dimensions between the physical and purely spiritual realms. Speaking through a medium, they establish direct communication with a group and explain their nature, methods of interaction, and purpose in guiding human consciousness.

CORE CONCEPTS

1. The Foggy Peoples Identity
The speakers describe themselves as beings existing in a 'mist-like' or 'vapor' state—essence rather than physical form. They inhabit intermediate dimensions between the physical world and purely spiritual realms. Unlike higher spiritual beings, they can still relate to human consciousness and exist on a parallel plane that mirrors our reality.

2. Communication & Energy Attachment
When communicating through the medium, their energy 'coagulates' within the person's aura/energy field. This attachment doesn't dissipate immediately but fragments slowly over time. They don't appear and disappear instantly but rather linger in layers, allowing the person to process and integrate their presence gradually.

3. Dream States as Teaching Tools
The Foggy Peoples work with humans through dream states to convey spiritual knowledge. Dreams are a filtered, processed medium allowing people to understand concepts beyond their normal consciousness. These dreams are carefully prepared sequences meant to resonate with the dreamer's spiritual understanding.

4. Thought as Universal Energy
Unlike physical beings who require mechanical energy for propulsion, the Foggy Peoples operate through pure thought energy. Thought is the fundamental medium of their existence. Pure thoughts create corresponding realities in their dimension. They can 'tiptoe or surge' using available energy fields within thought planes.

5. Multiple Parallel Dimensions
The beings discuss at least three parallel planes or 'perimeters' of reality existing simultaneously. Each has different 'refinement' levels. The Foggy Peoples exist on one parallel, humans on another, and higher spiritual beings on yet another. These parallels are like stepping stones of increasing intensity and evolution.

6. Coordinated Networks
The Foggy Peoples coordinate with multiple groups and individuals simultaneously. They maintain 'coordinates' with various people and can unify these connections into a cohesive network. They work with 'spirit people' and other beings to serve humanity through the mind.

KEY MESSAGES

Service Through Knowledge: The beings emphasize they serve by transmitting knowledge to those willing to listen. However, many who receive this knowledge are 'destroyed' by it because they cannot comprehend its fullness. Others use it wisely. Some receive guidance privately and connect with the beings in their own thoughts.

Observation & Selection: The beings can choose when and to whom they reveal themselves. Visibility is selective and purposeful. They prefer to work with those actively seeking spiritual understanding rather than imposing themselves universally.

Selectivity Over Force: Reflecting similar themes from other channeled messages, they indicate humanity is at a stage where they cannot force enlightenment. They work with receptive individuals and groups, allowing others to follow their own trajectory.

Multiple Realities & Evolution: The universe contains many dimensions, parallels, and stages of being. Humans can evolve across these perimeters through consciousness development. The beings have evolved to a point where they can touch and teach across multiple perimeters.

Energetic Intensity & Thought Volume: The greater the volume of thought and consciousness, the swifter and more intense the spiritual proportion or effect. Concentrated thought creates tangible results in non-physical dimensions.

COMMUNICATION STYLE

The entities use unusual grammar and phrasing (likely intentional—they mention using words and phrases 'to make you smile'). They frequently emphasize concepts of coordination, parallels, perimeters, and energy fields. Questions are asked mid-communication from the human attendees, creating an interactive dialogue. The beings acknowledge they are learning from humans even as they teach.

CLOSING

The beings announce they must leave as electrical equipment is about to fail. They express that this is one of many communications to come and assure the group there is no need to worry. They say goodbye in multiple languages/phrases before departing, with some ambient conversation following their departure.

KEY TAKEAWAY

The Foggy Peoples present a spiritual cosmology of multiple parallel dimensions inhabited by beings at different evolutionary stages. They emphasize that consciousness, thought, and willingness to receive spiritual knowledge are more fundamental than physical reality. They position themselves as intermediary teachers working selectively with receptive humans to expand consciousness and understanding of multi-dimensional existence. The message resonates with themes of non-interference, free will, and the power of individual spiritual evolution.
